DREDGE IS LAUNCHED AMID BUSY SCENES OF IRRIGATION WORK

With simple ceremony, enacted amid the noise and clatter of busy machines, within sight of the great engines that are doing the builders' bidding, the dredge T B. Noble was launched Tuesday afternoon, signalizing the beginning of another great phase of the irrigation work.

The crowd that attended the ceremony stood within a few yards of where one group of men and machines was pounding sheet piling into the river's bank to make a backbone for the dam within view across the river another group was shaping the big six conduits that will furnish outlet for the river's flow. Those who had mounted the bluff across the river to view the launching from afar could visualize the size and sweep of the great embankment It was an impressive setting for a significant occasion

Speakers told the several hundred residents of Wichita Falls and Seymour of the portent of the occasion, of the idle lands that would become prolific of food under the touch of irrigation, and paid tribute to those whose visions and labors had made the undertaking possible The speeches were brief, and that of the honoree, T. B. Noble, was briefest of all

When the last speaker had concluded, workmen released the big boat from the restraining blocks and cables and she slid, slow at first, then with increasing speed, down the greased skids into the water, while the crowd cheered. As the dredge started on its way, the bottle of grape juice crashed against its side, and Miss Eleanor Thompson christened the vessel with the name of the man who has played such an important and active part in the project, T B Noble

With Judge A H Britain as master of ceremonies, J A. Kemp Frank Kell, I. O. Newton of Seymour, J. B Lockwood of the dredge company, Rev N F Grafton, T B Noble and John W Shartel of Oklahoma City were the speakers The Seymour band furnished music at intervals during the program.

Mr Kemp [illegible] his appreciation for the support the citizenship had given in making the undertaking a reality, and in a brief talk voiced the hope that the results would be a real reward to all who shared in it. He introduced Sam Bellah of Decatur, recalling Mr. Bellah's help in the earliest days of the undertaking

Seymour is no less proud of the project than Wichita Falls is Judge Newton of Seymour told his hearers. He said that Wichita Falls could count on the support and cooperation of Baylor county, which, he reminded the crowd, was furnishing most of the water Judge Newton spoke also of the possibilities of the lake as a pleasure resort

When the project is completed Wichita Falls' work will be only two-thirds done, Frank Kell said There will remain the task of seeing that experienced and able farmers are brought in to cultivate the land, he pointed out. Mr. Kell submitted figures to show that there would be ample water for every possible need, water enough to irrigate an area as large as Wichita county.

Mr Kell said that while some people had credited him with having had a part in the project, such was not the case. He worked with Mr. Kemp at first, many years ago, he said, but "got tired of anteing"

Practical men were in charge of the work, rather than theorists, Mr Kell said He sketched briefly the careers of R A Thompson, chief engineer, and Capt Harry McFarland, assistant chief engineer, as showing their equipment for the task.

J. B Lockwood of the Puget Sound company said that his organization was proud to have a part in the undertaking and that it would always be a source of gratification to know that the company had a part in the work that was to mean so much

Rev. N. F. Grafton, who was called upon to discuss 'the honoree" said that T. B. Noble was a man who had placed his service to the community above his own personal ambitions and who had played a vital part in the project

"T B Noble has the love, the ambition and the energy that make up the good citizen," said the speaker

John W. Shartel of Oklahoma City, Frank Kell's guest, declared that for every four acres irrigated, one individual would be added to the section's population.

"You have water enough for 400,000 acres," he said. "That ought to mean 100,000 people here to make the land productive and profitable."

T B Noble confined himself to a brief word of appreciation for the honor conferred on him.

TENSION HIGH ON THE ULSTER BORDER; PRECAUTION TAKEN

BELFAST, May 31.—Fierce rioting occurred this afternoon in the Millfields district of Belfast, following the shooting of two special constables—Roulston and Campbell—who were badly wounded. Incendiarism and bombing were rampant, and the crown forces used machine guns. Several persons were reported killed.

By Associated Press.

BELFAST, May 31 — Tension along parts of the Ulster free state border still ran high today although little additional fighting was reported up till noon Each side apparently was occupied with taking measures for protection against possible attacks

At Strabane which is just across the Ulster border from Lifford the inhabitants were particularly busy in taking measures for protection The inhabitants of Bridge street which is exposed to the free state fire, were filling sand bags along the river for protection of their homes Ulster special constables have taken up positions at Camels Hump, which they are fortifying with sand bags

People entering Strabane from free state territory have to undergo vigorous questioning An astonished American traveler today was obliged to open his luggage to satisfy the curiosity of the Ulster forces The Lifford church towers, it became known today were considerably damaged during yesterday's firing

Members of the military forces on the Fermanagh-Donegal border came under range of heavy machine gun fire from across the frontier at Pettigo yesterday and two soldiers attached to the Enniskillen garrison were wounded, one seriously

Two girls were wounded during the firing here late last night

The police reports later showed four persons had been killed and several other persons wounded in addition to the killing of the two constables

A crowd attacked Peters' place adjoining Peters' Hill baths, and set on fire a number of houses in one of which a man and woman were later found murdered

Slaughter from Smith county, who had appealed from a conviction for violation of the law It was held that the law is indefinite and vague The question is asked "How can an automobile operator determine when the territory contiguous thereto is closely built up"

Slaughter was ordered discharged

SAYS GREAT BRITAIN WILL NOT TOLERATE AN IRISH REPUBLIC

STATEMENT MADE BY WINSTON CHURCHILL, COLONIAL SECRETARY

DRAWS GLOOMY PICTURE CONDITION OF COUNTRY

Frankly Admits British Troops Are Being Held in Dublin Ready for Auction

By Associated Press.

LONDON, May 31—Great Britain will tolerate no republic in Ireland and if the terms of the Anglo-Irish treaty are not carried out by the Irish, the British government will resume her liberty to act in taking back the power conferred on the provisional government and in reoccupying the territory evacuated, it was declared in the house of commons today by Winston Churchill, the colonial secretary.

Mr Churchill made this declaration in his promised statement to the house of commons on the Irish situation He drew a gloomy picture of the state in which Ireland finds herself today. While dealing sympathetically with the provisional government's plight and detailing at length its reasons, as conveyed to him for entering into the recent agreement with Eamon de Valera, the republican leader, he vigorously deprecated the past as striking directly at the treaty, which he declared would be broken if the four republicans taken into the Irish government following the forthcoming elections refused to sign the declaration of adherence to the treaty

Mr Churchill frankly admitted that British troops were being held in Dublin as a preliminary step to military operations, if these become necessary

He did not believe the members of the provisional government were acting in bad faith or hand-in-glove with their republican opponents. He was convinced their earnest desire and resolution was to carry out the treaty, even though they might not have taken the wisest or strongest course

Great Britain, said the secretary, had done her part and he did not believe her act of faith would be brought to mockery by the Irish people He concluded with an appeal that the British government continue to do its part.

DECLARES AGREEMENT DIRECT SLAP AT TREATY

LONDON, May 31—Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary for the colonies, asserted in the house of commons today that the agreement reached between the political factions on the southern side last Saturday strikes directly at the provisions of the Anglo-Irish treaty.

No one disputed, said the secretary, that the wish of the Irish people was reconciliation which would give Ireland her freedom, her place in the world and the hope of final unity Up to 10 days ago, the leaders of the provisional government had appeared to be resolved to march steadily forward through a free election and put down, if necessary, by force, all armed persons who tried to prevent them

The agreement reached between Michael Collins, head of the provisional government, and Eamonn de Valera, the republican leader, however, struck directly at the provisions of the treaty, Mr Churchill declared.

The consequences of the agreement were very serious he said, and it seemed probable that the Irish people would not be able to give free expression to their views

If Mr de Valera or any of the others who might be ministers in the Irish government refused to sign the declaration prescribed in the treaty, the secretary continued, the treaty was broken by that fact, and the imperial government reserved such liberty of action—whether in regard to the resumption of the powers which had been transferred or the reoccupation of territory—as it might think appropriate and proportionate to the gravity of the breach.

"The imperial government would not, in any circumstances, agree to deviate from the treaty, either in the strict letter or the honest spirit of the document, Mr. Churchill declared

"It is almost certain," Mr. Churchill went on, "that the Irish people will not be able to say in an intelligible way whether they accept or reject the treaty offered by Great Britain A certain number of labor or independent candidates may doubtless secure election, but it is difficult to see how the parliament resulting from the election and the government to be based on that parliament after the election can have either representative or democratic quality or authority as it is usually understood."

In reply to a question Mr Churchill did not, as was charged, issue a leaflet urging the Irish voters to support the treaty candidates in the coming elections on the ground that they could thus secure a republic, "through the safe, short road of the treaty"

MEMBER OF THE IRISH PARLIAMENT IS HELD

DUBLIN, May 31—Joseph McGuinness, member of the imperial parliament for the southern division of County Longford, died today. His election to parliament in 1917 while he was serving a three year sentence for his connection with the Easter rising of 1916 helped pave the way for the sinn fein's subsequent sweep of the country He was a strong advocate of the Anglo-Irish treaty and a member of the committee representing the free staters in the recent arrangement of a truce between the contending factions in the Irish republican army.

Six Million People Reported Starving In a Province of China

SHANGHAI, CHINA, April 30—Six million people, out of a population of twenty-seven million in the province of Hunan, are starving and hundreds of thousands are certain to die before mid-summer, according to estimates of mission workers there.

Literally thousands have died in the fields and by the roadsides

The bodies of the dead are stripped by survivors and the pitiful rags that clothed the corpses sold for the few brass coins they may bring with which to buy a handful of rice.

One missionary writing from Yuanchow said

"I called upon a once prosperous family and found them eating boiled grass with a few grains of rice. The rice would not fill a full tablespoon" In one part of the famine belt the last dreadful resort of the starving, cannibalism is being practiced, according to Maling-Yi, former minister of education at Peking.

Girl children are being given away on the mere promise that they will be fed and boys are sold at from 20 to 30 cents apiece.

By Associated Press

DETROIT May 31—Officials of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes today began preparation of strike ballots to be sent within the next few days to the 478 000 members of the organization throughout the country and to the approximately 75 000 non-union men of the crafts who would be affected by a strike

The brotherhood members, with the non union men will be asked to vote on the question of accepting the wage cuts of from one to five cents an hour recently ordered by the United States railroad labor board in Chicago If a majority of the brotherhood votes in favor of a rejection of the decreases L E Grable grand president of the brotherhood, with headquarters here, is empowered to issue a strike call immediately, setting the date for the walkout

A resolution calling for the strike vote and ordering Mr Grable to take the strike step in the event it is sanctioned by the membership, was passed yesterday at a meeting of the brotherhood's executive council composed of all officers of the union

It is expected by union officials that the last of the strike ballots will have been mailed by the first of next week If a strike is desired by the membership such a call probably will go out during the first week in July Mr Grable said. The wage reductions become effective July 1

If a strike should result all mechanics and maintenance of way employes on all the leading railroads of the country would be affected. The only exception, according to Mr Grable would be employes of short line railroads that do not come under the rulings of the labor board These crafts comprising the brotherhood's membership include mechanics, section men and foremen, cinder pit men, common laborers in shops and carpenters.

HOLD CONFERENCE TO FIX REASONABLE CHARGES FOR COAL

CALLED BY THE SECRETARY OF COMMERCE AT HARDIG'S REQUEST

WANTS A COMMITTEE IN EACH OF DISTRICTS

Explains That Conference Is Not Concerned With the Question of Wages

WASHINGTON, May 31—Secretary Hoover today assumed the responsibility for fixing a reasonable price on spot coal during the continuance of the present coal strike

Opening the conference here today of union and non union operators in the producing fields Mr Hoover declared that any agreement between the operators looking toward the fixing of the price of coal even though in the interest of the public would be illegal, and therefore he asked the individual operators to agree with him upon a reasonable price for coal in their respective districts

The commerce secretary suggested the immediate appointment of committees representing each producing district to advise with him upon a fair price for coal in their respective districts He also asked that these committees should continue in existence and report to him after the determination of a fair price

Mr Hoover told the several hundred operators assembled that the conference had been called by him at the request of President Harding to consult as to what means might properly be taken to restrain runaway coal prices due to the strike He explained that the conference was not concerned with wages or other questions but solely to the question of price and distribution of coal now being produced

Mr Hoover's suggestion was approved by A M Ogle of Indiana president of the National Coal association and by Judge Bradley of West Virginia and D B Wentz of Pennsylvania former presidents of the association

SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE APPROVES M'CUMBER MEASURE CHANGING THE EFFECTIVE DATE

WASHINGTON, May 31—The commonly known McCumber soldier bonus plan was ordered favorably reported today by the senate finance committee. The vote was 8 to 4.

The effective date of the bill was changed, however, from next October 1 to January 1, 1923, after Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, told the majority that it would take six months to get the bonus machinery in operation

The Smoot plan providing for paid up life insurance in lieu of all other forms of compensation was defeated by a vote of 5 to 5 the three democrats present—Simmons Walsh and Gerry—voting against it Republicans supporting the Smoot proposal were Senators Smoot, McLean Frelinghuysen Calder and Dillingham Republicans voting against it were McCumber, Curtis Watson Sutherland and LaFollette

Senator McLean broke the tie which has existed among the republican members on the vote to report the McCumber plan which is the house bill with some amendments, including elimination of the land settlement or reclamation project Senators said reclamation was not discussed although house leaders and some senate supporters of reclamation legislation have urged the Smith-McNary reclamation bill or some similar legislation be attached to the bonus measure.

Several of the majority members of the committee gave notice to Chairman McCumber that they would oppose laying aside the tariff bill for senate consideration of the bonus at any time in the near future Chairman McCumber replied that he intended to get as prompt consideration of the bonus bill as could be worked out but did not state whether the tariff measure would be laid aside It was reported that the republican leaders hoped to work out some plan by which the bonus measure could be expedited without delaying seriously the tariff bill

Senator Simmons, ranking democratic member, announced on behalf of the three democrats present that they voted to report the McCumber bill without making prompt objection with the understanding that the majority would be willing to allow prompt consideration of the measure. The democratic leader expressed the belief that the McCumber bill would be of little benefit to the former service men and said the minority reserved the right to offer a substitute bill in the senate or amendment to the McCumber plan.

The committee before approving the McCumber plan eliminated the forfeiture provisions as contained in the house measure, under which veterans failing to pay loans to banks or to the government would have forfeited their adjusted service certificates In such cases the secretary of the treasury would restore the certificates to the veteran in whose name it was issued at any time prior to its maturity upon receipt from him of the amount paid by the government to banks plus interest at the rate of 4½ per cent compounded annually.

That Cox claimed to have lost from $25 000,000 to $7 000 000 in not having had cash to operate on the Mexia oil field "at the psychological moment" was shown in a letter entered in evidence in connection with the testimony of Squire M Lane clerk in the government land office at Washington D C

MRS. M'CORMICK SEEKS TO PREVENT MAX OSER MATCH

PLEADS DISPARITY IN AGE IN PETITION FILED WITH THE COURT

SAYS GIRL IS HEIRESS WHILE FIANCE IS POOR

No Objection Is Offered to McCormick as Guardian and He Is Appointed

CHICAGO, May 31—A petition for a restraining order to prevent the marriage of Miss Mathilde McCormick, 17 years old to Max Oser, former Swiss cavalry officer more than twice her age was presented in probate court late today on behalf of her mother Mrs Edith Rockefeller McCormick

Probate Judge Hoyne announced he would grant letters of guardianship of Mathilde to her father Harold F McCormick president of the International Harvester company

Mrs. McCormick in her petition objected to the proposed marriage because of the disparity in the ages of the girl and Oser and because the marriage would make Mathilde a Swiss subject

She further set forth that Mathilde was one of the heirs of the millions of the Rockefeller family while Oser was comparatively a poor man

Mrs McCormick's petition was filed by her counsel Attorney Charles S Cutting, in the guardianship proceedings, although no objection was offered to Mr McCormick as Mathilde's guardian

In the arguments of the attorneys Edward Cassel representing Harold F. McCormick, told the court the arguments presented by Mr Cutting and the petition have never before been offered in court.

After stating that he agreed with Attorney Cassell that only under "grave circumstances" should the court interfere, Judge Henry L Horner stated that to properly bring the matter into court, attorneys for Mrs McCormick should present a petition, setting up the objections to Miss Mathilde's marriage instead of including them in the original guardianship proceedings

The court therefore continued the motion for a rehearing order until Saturday when a hearing will be held on the petition Attorney Cutting agreed to the continuance after Mr Cassell assured the court that no consent to the marriage would be given by Mathilde's guardian before Saturday

Letters of guardianship were then ordered issued to Harold F McCormick, upon approval of bonds in the sum of $20 000

MISS McCORMICK TO MAKE FINAL CHOICE

CHICAGO, May 31—Mathilde McCormick was back in Chicago today to choose finally between her parents. She planned to visit the probate court where the protest of Mathilde's divorced mother Edith Rockefeller McCormick reopened the guardianship proceedings in which the girl's father, Harold F McCormick, was tentatively named as guardian of his daughter last week

In final selection of a guardian today Mathilde had at stake the matter of approval of her contemplated marriage to Max Oser Swiss horseman, who was her riding master during her girlhood days at Zurich

In the choice of her father head of the International Harvester company millions, Mathilde had tacit approval of her marriage to the Swiss horseman, who is more than twice her age In selection of her mother lay apparent opposition to the Oser union

Mathilde returned to Chicago yesterday from New York where she was virtually halted at the pier in preparation for a voyage to Switzerland in company with Julia Mangold Oser's former secretary, who had been Mathilde's guest.

The 17 year old granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller Sr flatly refused to discuss her romance or the impending guardingship proceedings

THIRTEEN BALLOONS READY TO START ON ELIMINATION RACE

THREE WILL REPRESENT THE UNITED STATES IN SWITZERLAND

TWO NAVAL ENTRIES FLYING INDEPENDENTLY

Are Inflated With Helium Gas and First Free Balloons to Use This Substance

By Assoc Press

MILWAUKEE WIS May 31—Thirteen balloons today were tugging at their moorings ready to get away at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the 12th annual balloon race to decide which three will represent the United States in the international contests to be held in Switzerland in August

The course of flight will depend upon the whims and fancies of the winds thousands of feet above the ground Indications early today were that the race destination of most of the air craft would be southeastern Canada

Several of the baskets attached to the balloons were made waterproof floatable rafts arranged by the pilots in anticipation of a possible forced landing in one of the great lakes but all in all, the ordinary woven reed type which would fill with water as readily as a sieve A few of the men who are daring the perils of air currents thousands of feet above the earth carried with them light outfits for camping in case they came down in the wilds of Canada but a majority were sacrificing such extras for personal safety in favor of lighter equipment

The balloons probably attracting the greatest attention were the naval entries which are flying independently and are not eligible to any of the prize money or honors These two bags were inflated with helium gas and were the first free balloons to navigate the air through lifting power of this non inflammable substance which government officials claim will revolutionize the flight of lighter than air craft

The first balloon to take the air will be the smallest entry—that of Roy Donaldson of Springfield Ill The others will follow in the following order

Major Oscar Westover, Washington capacity 80 000 cubic feet

Ralph Upson Detroit capacity 60 000 cubic feet

Captain John Berry St Louis capacity 78 000 cubic feet

Lieutenant Commander J P Norfleet Lake Hurst N J capacity 75 000 cubic feet

Captain Harold Weeks, Langley Field Va. capacity 80 000 cubic feet

CHILE UNWILLING TO ARBITRATION OF TACNA AND ARICA

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON May 31—An unfavorable reply by Chile to the Peruvian proposal to arbitrate the sovereignty of Tacna and Arica is understood to have been presented at today's joint session of the Chilean Peruvian conference

The Chilean reply although not considered of a final character was received with manifest disappointment in Peruvian circles The meeting ended however without definite action

There were indications that despite the Chilean refusal to arbitrate the question of a plebiscite in Tacna Arica the door to further exchanges on forms of arbitration had been left open by certain counter suggestions on the part of the Chileans

If you're content he mumbled * * * daresay there's nothing more to be said

She nodded gaily repeating the word Nothing in a flute like note of mirth Hanging his head he began wretchedly to stuff the plunder into his pockets muttering half to himself What a pity! If only I could have had a bit of luck If only we could have hit it off— '

If you hurry she reminded him you can catch the night train for San Francisco you can just about make it

Well * * *' He glanced uneasily at her and again was conscious of the heat in his cheeks So it comes to this at last * * * eh? * * * goodby

Goodby she repeated amiably casual

I daresay * * *' He gave a dubious chuckle Daresay it's stupid but well, the usual thing you know * * *

Usual thing? she parroted with faintly knitted brows

To kiss goodby

You'll miss your train '

He developed a moment of desperately sincere emotion Fan! You've been a perfect brick to me a perfect brick I feel like a dog leaving you like this'

Oh she said as one indulges a persistent child—if you really want to kiss me Harry go ahead

Nevertheless she turned her mouth aside his lips brushed only her powdered cheek Then she stepped back to her mirror and with a puff made good the imperceptible damage done by the caress The glass showed Lontaine's shadow slinking out She heard him blunder through the living room the slam of the screen door And her hand fumbled the powder puff dropped unheeded mist drifted across her vision she gasped a breathless Damn Tears meant a wrecked make up * * *

Though there was need enough for haste if he were to carry out the plan she had made for him Lontaine dragged slowly down the walk with a hang dog air, the hands in his pockets fingering the price of the last sorry shreds of his self respect In the darkness the flesh of his face still burned with fire of shame * * *

Beside the car he halted and rested with a hand on the door for so long a time that the chauffeur grew inquisitive

Where to Mr Lontaine?

No by God Lontaine blurted into the man's astonished face and whirling about strode hastily back to the bungalow

As he drew near he could hear Fanny's voice She was at the telephone in the living room calling a number he didn't catch Summerlad's no doubt

Hello? Is it you dear? Fanny * * * First chance I've had * * * Poor darling I've been aching to see you all day and tell you how I sympathized * * * Yes any time you please as soon as you like * * * No he won't mind he * * * I mean I'm all alone Besides we had a little talk tonight came to an understanding He won't be in our way after this ever again Barry dear * * *

Something amused her peals of musical laughter haunted Lontaine down the walk Union Pacific station he cried throwing himself into the car Drive like hell '

That sunset whose reluctant waning Lontaine was presently to watch from the bungalow veranda was still a glory in the sky when Lucinda motored to Beverly Hills

It seemed a churlish chance indeed that ordained a reception for her exclusively at the hands of a semi intelligible Jap who uttered assorted fragments of English to the general sense that Mister was having his foot treated at the moment but would soon be disengaged

She put off her wrap made her self at home and sought but somehow failed to distill a compensating thrill from the reflection that she would erelong be called upon to make herself at home here for good and all Erelong meaning of course after Reno And why not? The house was excellently planned amply big for two no reason why Lynn need move unless he really wanted to

Curiosity concerning Lynn's tastes when he did find time to read moved Lucinda to con the straggling squad of titles Novels led in number in general such trash as furnishes the cinema with most of its plot material In addition a subscription set of De Maupassant another of O Henry Wells 'The Outline of History (uncut) the Collected Verse of Rudyard Kipling six copies of the same edition of Who's Who on the Screen Laurence Hope's Indian Love Lyrics in an exceptionally beautiful binding

With a chuckle Lucinda took possession of this last Lynn would have Laurence Hope Evidently a gift copy When she opened the book at its fly leaf a slip of printed paper fluttered out Without pausing to read the inscription Lucinda retrieved the clipping a half tone from one of the motion picture monthlies a view of the bungalow grounds with the house in the distance and in the foreground Lynn and a young woman arm in arm laughing at the camera

The evening had grown quite dark when a crisp rattle of the telephone started Lucinda into renewed contact with her surroundings The book was in her hand Behind her a door opened Without moving she watched Summerlad in a dressing gown hastily thrown on over dressshirt and trousers hobble over to the telephone and conduct one end of a short conversation of which her wits made no sense of whatever He hung up and peered blindly round the room

Linda darling? he called

What's the big idea sitting all alone in the dark At the same time he switched on wall sconces and blinking saw her Just our luck he grumbled trying to sound disconsolate What do you think sweetheart? Fanny says they can't come tonight Harry's laid up with a sick headache or something and she doesn't think she ought to leave him I wonder if you'd mind dining here with me alone this once I can't very well go out with this foot Eh What do you think

Lucinda made no sound His eyes narrowed as he perceived the abnormal absence of color in her face the dark dilation of her unwavering eyes Limping he approached

What's the matter Linda? Not cross with me are you?

An entreating hand silenced him All in a breath Lucinda said Lynn why didn't you ever tell me you were married?

Summerlad said Damnation half under his breath and moved nearer till another flutter of her hand stopped him That wise head band of yours he exploded thereafter vindictively I suppose he's been spilling all he knows

Did Bel know? Yes I presume he must have But you're mistaken he didn't tell me It was this

Summerlad frowned at a loss to identify the volume in her extended hand

"I found it Lynn quite by accident while I was waiting Hope's Indian Love Lyrics Don't you remember [illegible] inscribed

"If you'd only give me a show to explain '

To my Lynn on the first anniversary of our marriage with all my heart Nelly And then this picture of you two published after you came here to live Oh Lynn Why did you lie to me about that poor girl?

For a moment Summerlad gnawed his underlip without attempting to reply Then with a sign of despair he retreated to one end of the chaise lounge against which he rested to ease his foot He said something in an angry mumble as Lucinda followed into the room

'I thought I could keep it from you until '

Till when? Till what? He growled inarticulate with vexation

To let me go on thinking making such a fool of myself ' Since you don't live together why aren't you divorced

Nelly said if I tried to divorce her she'd fight back and she knows '

He didn't finish but shut his teeth on a blundering tongue and looked more than ever guilty But Lucinda was in a pitiless temper

About you? You mean—about you and other women?

Hang it all I've never pretended to be a saint have I Linda?

No wonder the poor thing hated the sight of me [illegible] good enough for you And you've lied to me too Don't [illegible] accident [illegible] every [illegible] If you love me— [illegible] love you—What [illegible] matter What if we [illegible] What difference [illegible] can still be [illegible]

ROB NEGRO STORE OF $360, INCLUDING FUNDS OF CHURCH

Thieves believed to have been experienced safe men and operators invaded the home of Bell negro at 200 Humphrey street where they forced an entrance to the building opened a small safe and escaped with $360 in cash last Tuesday night Between $30 and $40 of the money was in Buffalo nickels Bell told police while the rest was in bills and silver A $25 check was also taken

An investigation of the robbery Wednesday morning revealed that a window on the west side of the store had been forced open and entrance gained in that way The combination to the strong box was either known to the robbers or was figured out after they had started operations Police are inclined to the latter theory which leads to their belief that the work was not that of amateurs

Following the removal of the coin the safe door was closed and locked

The owner of the store is treasurer of a local negro church and a considerable amount of the missing cash made up the church fund, he told officers The rest represented the proceeds of his Tuesday sales at the store

Bell has been a resident of Wichita Falls for many years and has been recognized as one of the most respectable negroes in the city His past record of integrity and honesty has convinced officers with whom he was acquainted that he was really the victim of a carefully planned robbery Tuesday night and that there were no irregularities from the inside

Although search for the thieves was being made Wednesday

Be Sure You Get a Full Pound

You used to ask for a large can of baking powder and get 16 oz.—a full pound. You can't depend on getting a full pound today because some baking powders are now put up in 12 oz. or 3/4 pound cans, and are 4 oz. short of a pound.

Never ask for a can of baking powder — always say "give me 16 oz., or full pound."

A large can of Calumet always did and still does contain 16 oz. or a full pound.

Form the habit of careful buying—be sure you get full value for your money.

Calumet lasts longer and goes farther—you save when you buy it—you save when you use it.

Don't regret — use Calumet.

Remember!
12 oz. is Not One Pound

cathartics—

one of the chief causes of constipation?

The quotation is taken from an important paper on the treatment of constipation by a well-known physician

DID it ever occur to you that the cathartic you take to relieve constipation, is the cause of your trouble?

Yet when a number of doctors were discussing this almost universal complaint one of them said: "Probably one of the most frequent causes of constipation is the indiscriminate use of cathartics." For years physicians have tried to persuade people to give up laxatives and to eat corrective foods instead.

It is now known that Fleischmann's Yeast is a food which makes the use of cathartics unnecessary. Because of its freshness it helps the intestines eliminate waste matter.

People who are adding Fleischmann's Yeast to their daily diet find that their body functions are kept normal and regular. Eat 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast before or between meals every day. Place a standing order with your grocer. He will deliver Fleischmann's Yeast fresh daily.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

The old time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays though we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the messy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—adv.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
THE MOON-MAN'S AIDS ARE MANY—AND HIS FOES, TOO
By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Then my dream-fairies, the Fowalies, slide down a moon-beam."

In the first place said the Man in the Moon after he had told Nancy and Nick about his fairy helpers "I have to spend most of my time watching my enemies. I lose a lot of time that way and that is why I need your help old Eena Meena is one who bothers me a lot. He lives in a star quite close to the moon and mixes up atrocious dreams to send to the earth.

Oh cried out Nancy I suppose he was the one that sent the awful dreams to Nick and me. He almost made us lose our way when we were crossing the Seven Mountains one time on an errand for the Fairy Queen.

Yes sir exclaimed Mr Icerbout he was the very one I saw old Twelve Toes the Sorcerer change himself into a bat and fly up to old Eena Meena's star.

After awhile he flew away again with two bags and I just knew he was up to mischief. Old Eena Meena mixed those dreams, you may be sure my dears.

Every time I see a dream going toward the earth from his star I send some of my fairies to catch it usually the Chimney-Sitters, for most dreams go down chimneys. Then my dream fairies the Fowalies slide down a moonbeam and hurry down the chimney and substitute a lovely dream for the bad one.

'Is Mr Eena Meena the only enemy you've got" asked Nick.

My no sighed the Man in the Moon. That's why I sent for you. Twelve Toes the Sorcerer and Eena Meena the Magician and Tricky Trixe the Wizard and Hallo Hallo, the Conjuror are all angels compared to my real enemy.

My real enemy is Comet Legs, so called because his legs are as curved as comets. He rides through the sky on a shooting star. He's jealous of me and my friends because he wishes to rule the sky. I'll tell you about him.

OUR FIRST YEAR

CHAPTER II.—TRIVIAL TROUBLES.

By a Bride

When a girl marries she expects life is going to become a succession of startling events.

Pretty soon she discovers that life goes on after her wedding much as it did before.

Jack never asked me why I had gone to the station nor whom I had seen there. His lack of curiosity made me awfully cross. He might also to have raged about the play but he did not.

I felt I had a particle of right to be cross if Jack was living up to our contract far better than I.

Somewhat vaguely said I to me Peg Madison that letter from Mrs Alfred was only a little rift between you and Jack but it will be as deep and broad as the grand canyon if you keep on imagining things as you have been doing the last few days.

In spite of this wise admonition I plunged into our next big trouble to day I was in the right.

Jack was insistent about nothing at all sometimes I suspect that he must have been a stubborn little boy or I wouldn't have been so stubborn about not shaving off his mustache. The story seems silly, now I look back at it.

Jack had decided to wear a mustache, thinking it would make him look older would add to his dignity as a business man.

I developed an intense dislike for it from the first.

I like to believe that I have a sense of humor but I must own up that I was cross little at that mustache. Jack had been cultivating it about two weeks when one morning I made it plain positively that I would not kiss him unless he shaved it off.

"Never again I begins"

Jack put his lathered face into my kitchenet before breakfast. No man looks like a hero in that state. It was easy for me to say with decision.

'I mean just what I say. I will not kiss you until you shave off that mustache. So—you'd better do it—now.

I suppose that demand made Jack unreasonable; or convinced him that I was. Certainly he must have been convinced of something very disagreeable when I absolutely refused to kiss him goodby, and he had to go off to the office—for the first time—without it.

So we went along for two weeks. Every morning I cried after my husband went to work.

Embrace me he might kiss me he might not! Becoming a real caveman upon one occasion he got soundly slapped for his pains.

The finished product of [illegible] character as exhibited in the [illegible] was the intensely interesting [illegible] presented by Mrs Cly[illegible] in her beautiful talk in the [illegible] services at the North Side M[illegible] church on Tuesday night.

Herself a mother charged with the training of young life the [illegible] speaker brought out of the [illegible] house of her own experience [illegible] invaluable counsel in the religious upbringing of children. Mother love the greatest thing in the world was duly emphasized as the conscious means for promoting Christ like character in the childhood of today. She insisted that thoughts really determine a person's character and therefore only thinking on what over things are true honest just pure lovely and of good report as the Bible teaches can meet the requirement for forming desirable character. Because thoughts are so intimately connected with habit it is likewise important that we indulge only such as promote pure living. Safeguarding the lips against improper speech was urged as a distinct aid in developing a pure character.

The message tonight will be brought by Judge P A Martin.

"Midsummer Night's Dream" Fairies Wear Lovely Costumes of a New Art

The fairies in Midsummer Night's Dream which will be presented Thursday and Friday nights at the Wichita theater by the Community Players will furnish one of the loveliest and most artistic spectacles of that production according to those who have witnessed a dress-rehearsal of the fairy scenes.

A cut of the tiny little folks who gather so naturally and joyfully about the fairy queen in the play was used in Sunday's Times, and its beauty attracted much attention and comment. The children costumed according to the suggestion of Mrs Luther Hoffman in keeping with the modern and artistic interpretation of fairy-folk, are as natural and graceful as wind-blown leaves and go through their beautiful little sketch with a freedom from consciousness which is altogether alluring. That the freedom is due as much to costuming as to the natural winsomeness of childhood will be readily believed by all who have seen the stiff little fairies of the older stage toe carefully through a woodland scene in an amazing get-up of tarletan set tier on tier on the soft little bodies.

Mrs Hoffman explained the new art of costuming fairies very interestingly when asked to do so after the publication of Sunday's picture from the play.

Fairy Fashions Change

'As far as memory takes us back she reminded the questioner 'the only fairies we can remember are those who stiffly tarletaned tried to flit gracefully through the woodland scene of the local theater.

We accepted the stiffness because that was the starch age. Many other things were stiff such as mothers collars petticoats and corsets along with the hair cloth settee in the parlor.

But as we have been growing more natural and reasonable in music and art so are we growing in our ideas of costuming. The masterpiece of all art is the human body and we are beginning to learn better than to box it up or change its shape into something very much less lovely and natural to hamper its shape by adorning it with uncomfortable garmenture.

Who could have a big beautiful thought without room enough inside his casement for a deep breath?

And the same reasoning is being applied to fairies. Their fashions have changed following the trend of the times and the new art is calling for soft unhampering drapery. They are not ghostly white any longer. Few things in the nature world are glaring white even the purest lily is of a cream hue.

So the fairies in Midsummer Night's Dream do not wish to look like white cardboard dolls in paper dresses. They are borrowing the lesson from Mother Nature whose colors are soft and beautiful and whose lines are the lines of natural grace. They appear like bits of detached landscape, with all the ethereal loveliness and beauty of the bluebird or the butterfly.

Zinc is used for roofing in all the cities of Europe more than any other metal.

Local Forecaster Says Signs Point To Floods in June

A cool wet May means floods in June.

Such is the assertion of a certain Wichitan who having lived here about 30 years and having given ample proof that he isn't the other thing, either declines to make any prediction. He just says that that kind of May weather means high water in June.

It has been seven years since this section witnessed any real floods such as they have further east and south in Texas.

There was no doubt Wednesday about May's coldness. Palmbeach suits and straw hats felt decidedly extra pluribus unum.

HEALTH THE SECRET OF ATTRACTION

Women of today depend a good deal upon the modern modiste and a knowledge of the cosmetic art to make them attractive. Too often there exists beneath it all a suffering woman whose nervous laugh or forced smile covers a pang of agony caused by some feminine ill. To such a woman Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will bring health and a happy relief from her suffering that will make her far more attractive than costly gowns and cosmetics.

For nearly [illegible] years American women have relied upon this root and herb medicine to relieve their ailments. (adv.)

CONCERNING DECORATION DAY

Veterans of the war between the states the Spanish-American war and the world war joined here Monday in the observance of Memorial Day Outside of the veterans themselves and members of their families there were few who participated in the exercises There was little cessation of business for the day and few flags were displayed

Next year this community ought to cease from labor for the day and join with these veterans of all wars in their tribute for their fallen comrades On that day all of us ought to join in remembrance of their heroic sacrifices and in recalling the glorious principles for which they fought

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

IF YOU ONLY HAD YOURSELF

It may be true that we are each to ourself the most interesting personage in the world, but on the other hand did we have no other person on earth to interest these selves of ours we would soon go suddenly mad

The well fed dog may stretch himself in the shade of a tree and forget all else in his contentment But let him once get hungry again'

Jesus said 'Blessed is he who hungers, and thirsts after righteousness"

Thrice blessed is he who continually hungers after something higher and better than what he himself represents

Add to yourself, my friend, interests, interests'

For it is out of these interests of yours that spring the life and rich rewards of existence And it matters very little the direction in which your interests lead you, so long as they stimulate and spur you to unfold the best that is within you

When we give most we get most Service renders back larger dividends than any stock or bond.

You may pride yourself on having much—but it is in such an attitude of thinking that you really possess the least

You have most when you appreciate most

The penniless boy walking through a wood may be richer than the richest millionaire He may see what no one but he who is rich in love may see.

There are those who cross the seas a hundred times in search of happiness and who return as lacking as when they set out If they but knew it, this happiness which they are willing to spend so much to gain, might be theirs simply for walking a few steps to the door of their neighbor—and there rendering no more than a pleasant talk or good service

The greatest adventure toward which we all look forward that we may find real thrills begins the minute we leave ourselves for some thing or some body

JUST FOLKS

—By— Edgar A. Guest

THE OLD REFRAINS

Here are childhood's fancies true,
Once so long ago, you knew
'Eeenie, meenie, meinie, mo,
One two, three and out you go' '
Here's the old belief again
Kill an ant and it will rain"

Yesterday I passed along
Where a merry-hearted throng
Counted out the selfsame way
Of our long forgotten play
And I heard the meenie mo
Of our distant long ago

Wide the eyes that glistened there
In a world so wondrous fair,
Wise the heads that nodded low
At the things they'd come to know
And I smiled at this refrain
"Kill an ant and it will rain '

Oh thought I, 'tis very strange
Childhood's fancies never change
That is what we used to say
In our golden yesterday
Eeenie meenie, meinie mo'
One two, three and out you go '

Long forgotten, still it lives
Joy to little hearts it gives
And unto the end of time
Little lips will sing this rhyme,
Age will hear its babes explain
"Kill an ant and it will rain

Needless books and printed things
For the songs that childhood sings,
Curly heads and laughing eyes
In such lore are always wise,
This belief will 'ong remain
Kill an ant and it will rain"

ASTHMA

By DR R H BISHOP

Asthma is one of those general names which might mean any one of several very different ailments It is applied by the layman to various conditions associated with extreme difficulty in breathing Thus you hear of cardiac asthma renal asthma hay-fever asthma All imply difficulty in breathing

Bronchial asthma is the commonest

The fact that there are so many causes for this sort of asthma is one of the great reasons why there are so many suffer

The greatest fundamental in most asthma cases is a disordered nervous system The great nerves of feeling breathing are disturbed thus bringing about spasms of the bronchial apparatus and swelling of their mucous membrane linings

The asthma victim need hardly fear dying in a seizure, however dreadful it may appear to himself or an onlooker

The question whether or not asthma can be cured depends on whether or not its exciting causes can be found and removed

Various climates may have to be tried One which is fairly dry of moderate altitude and fairly free from dust is right in most cases But not in all Strangely enough the air of cities suits many sufferers better than the purer rural air For the elderly asthmatic out door life with walking golf or riding in moderation is the thing Such exercises should be stopped well within fatigue The open air life should become habitual

Proper diet and exercise will be explained in detail by the physician

United States imported 70,000,000 pounds of Brazil nuts during the first half of 1921

Twice as much postal business is done in New York City as in the entire dominion of Canada

More than 2,000,000,000 packages were handled by the U S parcel post service last year

United States postal service has 300,000 employes

American toys produced this year will reach a value of $100,000,000

Texas Viewpoints

Amarillo Tribune Of course Governor Neff deplores the activities of mobs and the frequent lynchings in Texas We all do, and heartily hope that no more crimes will be committed to rouse people to take the law in their own hands to avenge such outrages as will always drive a community to desperation but surely the governor is not really in favor of a law to arbitrarily force men accused of participation in a lynching bee to be pulled away to some other county for trial Texas already has a law providing for change of venue in cases where a fair trial is improbable It would be absurd to suggest that a member of a Texas mob should be taken to some other state for trial and if and if the governors idea is to get to a county where popular feeling will be less pronounced in such cases he is not apt to find it in a Texas county Our faith in Texans is strong enough to believe that enough jurors can be found in any county in Texas to render a just and impartial verdict even in a lynching case, if the evidence is of a convincing character The best way to stop lynching is to stop the cause and this can't be done by the method suggested by Governor Neff

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY.

Today's word is welter

Its pronounced — wel-ter, with accent on the first syllable

It means—to tumble about wallow or roll the act or motion of weltering hence confusion or turmoil

It comes from — Anglo-Saxon wieltan to roll

Its used like this— From the welter of figures which tariff disputants quote it is difficult for the average man to form much opinion concerning the probable results of pending changes in the law

YOU AND I

By ALBERT APPLE

MONKEYS

Carveth Wells explorer while tramping in Malay jungles found that the natives had trained broke small monkeys to run up trees and pick coconnuts for them

That is interesting because it happens far away

But shucks In our country the monkeys descendants have been trained to do a heap sight more than the broks

You have noticed in a circus menagerie, that the monkeys are just as interested in us as we are in them This is one of the reasons.

MEAT-EATING

Back in 1907 the average American ate 180 pounds of meat a year This has dropped to 156 pounds a year

Meat eating has been declining since city men discovered that a heavy noon day lunch tends to make them logy for the rest of the day

On the other hand especially among women light lunchers incline to become cindy fiends In solving one problem we usually create a new one in its place

CHINESE

The Wei Pu central government of China bases its foreign policy on the conviction that it is cheaper to pay an enemy the indemnity he demands and avoid a war than lick him and incur a war debt several times as big

The Chinese believe that all men guard their lives as their greatest treasures Hence capital punishment in China is as common a sentence as 30 days in the workhouse in America

When a bank fails in China the banker is beheaded Of course this seems atrocious to a sentimental Caucasian reformer

However China claims it has had only one bank failure in the 4000 years it has kept the headchoppers as sharp

SHE

The old-time hardened woman of Chicago's underworld is vanishing Her place is being taken by young girls 70 per cent of them from the country and averaging 19 years old.

This is the report of the Illinois state vice investigators

A thousand sermons could be preached on the subject Most of them could be summed up into the commission's estimate that 35 out of each 100 girls who go wrong' come from homes broken up by divorce or separation of parents

INTOXICATING

Repeatedly you read about a bootlegger's still exploding and wrecking a house It makes you wonder what kind of high explosive they are putting into the stuff

Any investigation should be left to a Filipino bartender Over there they name their drinks according to the power chained up in the beverage "Dos cabalios" is two horses gin and "tres fabricarell is three locomotives brand)

Many an army regular will recall this stuff along with nipa gin bino and carlon shell —in the Silver Dollar saloon in Manila Joe's Place at Iloilo or the road houses at Caloocan

STOLEN

Many large corporations have been built up on discoveries or ideas stolen from poor inventors This form of piracy has been so wide spread in the past it is a trade saying that an inventor rarely realizes as much profit from his discovery as the salesman who markets it

The tide turns the radio industry in its swaddling clothes, constantly being improved But General Electric company and the Radio corporation according to a Wall Street Journal announcement are refusing to discuss unpatented ideas with inventors They are alert for improvement but tell inventors talk business talk business

The use of concrete houses is becoming common in various sections of the country

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

VOTERS HAVE RIGHT TO FULL INFORMATION

In line with the progress being made toward a more intelligent consideration of genuine reasons in favor of or against any candidate for office any group or individual has every right in a democratic country governed by votes of independent citizens to full knowledge of all views of all candidates for any office on any issues that are pertinent to any campaign and in such detail as may be practicable and reasonable

There was not long ago a very general support of open covenants openly arrived at and such a policy which requires the carrying out of the foregoing is in a democracy the proper method for solution of political issues rather than secret meetings of secret societies with secret membership Various questionnaires having made their appearance on various subjects to meet such in part at least the following is offered for all interested or concerned

1 As a candidate for representative in state legislature I believe in enforcement of all laws against all violators and that all laws should likewise be enforced by methods provided by law That if laws are inadequate to maintain observance of administration of law in accord with law that legislation should be enacted to curb mob action by providing that criminal charges for law violation may be tried in other counties than where crimes or mob murders are committed and that those indulging in mob action shall be made civilly liable for damages for any destruction of property and to heirs and relatives for murders committed All are guaranteed their day in court and should have it

2 That as stated by President Madison Popular government without public education is but the prelude to a farce or a tragedy, or both That the tragedies of mob action is due to miseducation or ignorance of citizenship obligation and responsibilities and that farcical enforcement of liquor or other laws is likewise due in large part to lack of education in citizenship or rank egotism or anarchy and that peaceful solution of existing problems require that Texas give all possible attention and practicable aid to better educational opportunities. Law enforcement is not a narrowly local issue Property rights and personal safety are affected in this day of automobile and airplane transportation for a wide range from residence of crooks and law violators In event states will not act, there is little doubt but that some federal enactment will be pronounced constitutional on basis of insurrection or other theory beyond state control As between law and order and any question of whether by state or federal authority, the latter will be secondary.

INVESTIGATE RUMOR PETERS WAS KILLED IN THE WARD HOME

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 31.—Westchester county authorities today took official cognizance of a newspaper report that Walter S. Ward, wealthy baker's son, shot Clarence Peters in Ward's home on the night of May 15 and that evidence in the form of bullet-torn woodwork and possibly bloodstains would be found there.

District Attorney Weeks went into conference with Sheriff Werner, police chief of New Rochelle, and other officials and later visited Ward's home at New Rochelle.

When Ward surrendered on May 22, his lawyers stated that he had met Peters who was demanding $25,000 blackmail, by appointment, that he drove with him to Kensico reservoir, and there shot him in self-defense after Peters had threatened him with a pistol.

The newspaper report now under investigation quoted the man alleged to have been wounded by Ward as saying that although there was a blackmailing plot it was not directed against Ward.

OFFICERS AT AUSTIN SEARCH FOR A NEGRO ACTIONS A MYSTERY

AUSTIN, May 31.—Deputy sheriffs and other county officers are looking for a negro man who has been terrorizing the negroes of the Del Valle community, near Austin, for the past two days. The negro, supposed to be an escaped convict, has entered the homes of Del Valle negroes and demanded food. He has asked for nothing else.

The way in which the negro has eluded the officers is considered almost uncanny. Several times the officers have had him surrounded only to find him gone when they closed in.

He is armed with three pistols, according to negroes whose home he has entered. When he first appeared he had only one pistol, the next time he was seen he brandished two and when seen yesterday he had another one hanging from his belt.

So far the negro has molested no one and has confined his marauding expeditions to the homes of negroes. The county officers, however, fear that he might make trouble if not apprehended.

The negro residents of that section are wildly excited, according to the officers.

BARBARITY BY TURKS AGAINST THE GREEKS CHARGED IN REPORT

By Associated Press.

LONDON, May 31.—Acts of great barbarity are being committed by the Turks against the Greeks in the Trebizond district of Asia Minor, Cecil Harmsworth, undersecretary for foreign affairs, told the house of commons today. He gave independent witnesses who had just left Trebizond as authority for his statement. He said it was reported that little boys were collected in compounds and allowed to starve to death.

The British government is doing all in its power to accelerate the dispatch of the proposed commission of inquiry, he said, but no further action can be taken until a reply is received to the invitations extended to the American government. The reply is expected today or tomorrow.

AUTOMOBILE BANDITS GET $15,000 PAY ROLL

2 YEAR SENTENCE BY JURY IN CASE OF FRANK MARINA

At 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, an hour after the case went into its hands, the jury in the case of Frank Marina returned a verdict of guilty and assessed his punishment at confinement in the state penitentiary for two years.

Marina was charged with the theft of property over the value of $50 it being specifically alleged that he stole a quantity of groceries from the grocery store of J. L. Huffhines at 115 Indiana street about March 1 of this year.

This was a companion case of Earle Patterson who was tried and convicted on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property over the value of fifty dollars. Patterson was also sentenced to two years in the state prison.

TOO MUCH ESKIMO PIE

CHRISTIAN KENT NELSON.

By NEA Service.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Anybody'd think dipping ice cream into hot chocolate would melt the ice cream. Christian Kent Nelson discovered the way to do it, however, at just the right temperature. The result—eskimo pie.

Until he made his discovery Nelson was a poor but contented teacher at Onawa, Iowa. Today money's pouring in on him so fast that he's scared. "I want to stay human," he says.

He tried hard enough to market his idea before it "caught on." Most people he approached were skeptical. Finally Russell Stover of Omaha went in with him. From that moment the golden tide began to rise. For Nelson, at any rate, it rose too high.

"Money. The more I see of it the less I like it; I'd rather be with my books, or back on the job as teacher again," he exclaimed. He hasn't even bought an automobile.

Perhaps wealth came a bit too fast—about a year, from a shoestring to affluence, is sudden enough to be disconcerting.

Nelson's a graduate of Nevada university. He's only 29. His father and mother are living and he has brothers and sisters. He's unmarried. When a reporter asked him, "Do you intend to take a wife?" "Maybe," he answered.

PRESENT NEW BILL TO REGULATE GRAIN EXCHANGE TRADING

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—A new bill for regulation of future trading on grain exchanges, designed to meet the recent decision of the supreme court holding the present trading act inoperative in part, was introduced in the senate today by Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, chairman of the unofficial senate agricultural bloc, and author of the original act.

In presenting his new measure Senator Capper said it had the support of the agricultural bloc and Secretary Wallace and others of the department of agriculture. It was referred to the agriculture committee.

The bill is similar to the act declared inoperative by the supreme court except that its fundamental principle is based upon the power of congress to regulate interstate commerce, instead of the taxing power, which was the basis of the present law and which supreme court held could not be exercised in that respect. The bill, like the present law, provides for designation and regulation of "contract markets" by the secretary of agriculture and for admission to grain exchanges of farmers cooperative associations, the latter a provision opposed vigorously by the established boards of trade.

Bulgaria Requires The Girls to Work One-Third of Year

By Associated Press.

SOFIA, BULGARIA, May 31.—Premier Stamboulisky advocates the arrest and punishment of girls who refuse to obey the new law requiring them to work for the government free four months out of each year. Under this law girls between the ages of 10 and 20, daughters of bourgeois citizens of Verna and Sofia, are required to work, but only 100 have thus far complied and are doing sewing, typing and hospital work. The law went into effect May 3.

Those who have refused to obey figure that they are either under or above the stipulated ages, or that they are about to be married.

Members of the bourgeoise party fearing a peasant dictatorship, are attempting to export their valuables, and many have been caught and jailed. The American legation is under a heavy guard of police and soldiers, owing to numerous threats

HE BUILDED BETTER THAN HE KNEW

In a little 16-foot building with a mere handful of merchandise Saul's Store was founded just eight years ago. It was a very small store, but behind it was a big policy—that of fair dealing, big volume and small profits and truthful advertising—a policy that has built SAUL'S STORE to the enviable position of Wichita Falls' Foremost Cash Department Store.

NAME SUGGESTIONS FOR LAKE CONTINUE TO URGE J. A. KEMP

Readers of The Times, suggesting names for the two irrigation project lakes, continue to urge that Mr. Kemp and members of his family be honored in the naming. Quite a few are urging that T. B. Noble be also honored in that way, while the suggestion for use of the word "Faith" has quite a few advocates.

Not all of the suggestions are sincere ones One was received urging "Alkali Lake" for the storage dam and "More Alkali" for the diversion dam This suggestion bore the name of R. L. More, agent for W. T. Waggoner, but as the name was signed on the typewriter, and the envelope bore a Wichita Falls post-mark, it cannot be attributed to the well known Vernon resident.

Another suggestion that probably will not be taken too seriously is signed by one Isadore Yeinheimer, who urges that "Africa" and "Mexico" be the names for the upper and lower lakes, probably on account of the nationality of many of the men employed.

Suggestions received by The Times since the last report are:

JUDGE MARTIN TAKES STAND AGAINST PREACHING SERMON ON CASE PENDING IN COURT

Rev. H. D. Knickerbocker of the First Methodist church, south, came in for a few remarks from Judge F A Martin of the 89th district court after one of the venireman in the Mike Tucker case had disqualified because he had contributed to the fund raised by Dr Knickerbocker shortly after the alleged affair occurred.

Judge Martin also expressed disapproval of ministers of the gospel preaching on cases that are pending in court. He supplemented his remarks by stating that when the opportunity presented itself he was going to do all in his power to stop it.

Fred Thompson, venireman, had been passed by state's attorney to counsel for the defense.

He was asked what church he was a member of and answered that he was a member of Dr. Knickerbocker's church and further answered that he had contributed to the fund raised at that time. He was challenged for cause and the court excused him.

Judge Martin's remarks were: "I want to express disapproval as a judicial officer of ministers of the gospel preaching about cases that are pending in the courts and taking up collections for either side.

"If they were taken up for either side in the case it is a kind of influence in the administration of justice and is something that this court under proper opportunity will certainly do something to stop if there is any way in the world to stop it."

During the examination of veniremen each was asked if they had heard Dr. Knickerbocker's sermon and whether he had contributed anything to the fund raised at that time.

MONEY, JEWELS 'NEVERYTHING IS BURIED BY ROBBERS, BUT OFFICER FAILS TO FIND IT

A disgusted city detective who left an appetising dinner on the table Tuesday noon, who labored long and zealously throughout the remainder of the day and who climbed in bed Tuesday night with nothing but the knowledge of duty conscientiously discharged as his reward is authority for this yarn.

To the reader is left the task of drawing conclusions, but the events as chronicled below are vouched for as facts by the police department.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock Tuesday the police phone rang and an excited feminine voice urged that an officer be sent with all speed to a certain address in the south part of town. Of such importance was the case, as given to the desk sergeant, that he phoned a detective and advised him to get on the job at once.

Arrived at the number given, the officer was met by an excited woman who piloted him to the rear of a ramshackle barn, pointed to a small excavation in the earth and then related the following story:

"I went out to milk late this morning," she said, "and heard voices behind the barn I peeped through a crack and saw four negro men digging in the ground and conversing quietly. Finally one of them drew from his pocket a rather small bundle, wrapped in manilla sacking and tied with strings, which he dropped in the hole that had been made.

"They covered it up and left," she continued, "and when I was sure they had gone I dug up the package and carried it to the house. My daughter and I removed the covering and there we found a roll of bills—fifties and hundreds entirely—that made a bundle as big around as a small dinner plate. Then there were four diamond rings, all large and costly, four strings of pearls and two gold watches, one with a heavy gold chain attached.

"I was scared and took it back and buried it where we found it. Then I called you"

By this time the blaze and unexcitable detective was evincing lively interest and requested that he be conducted straightway to the scene of the buried treasure This accomplished, he found the excavation and a broken automobile spring with which it had been made—but not a sign of money or jewels

Right then and there the officer drew one of two conclusions—one that P T. Barnum was correct or else that there was work for the prohibition squad somewhere in the vicinity.

A statement by the woman that she recognized one of the negroes was considered worth investigating, however, and for the rest of the day he searched high and low for the elusive black Just before dark he arrived at a dairy several miles north of town where the negro was reported to be working, only to learn that the quarry and his employer had gone to town.

Hurrying back to the city the detective found the pair, marched the negro to the city hall, plied him with questions and then at the end of 10 minutes turned him loose and went home and went to bed.

"I'm glad we don't have 'em like that every day," the detective said Wednesday in relating the affair, "but I wish the story had been true. I'd like to see whether or not so much wealth is laying around loose."

OUTSIDERS MUSTN'T PICK ALL GRAPES, IS IRRIGATION WARNING

"Don't let outsiders come in and pick the grapes," was the warning sounded at the Lions club meeting Wednesday noon when the irrigation project now under way was the principal topic of discussion Fear that Wichita Falls would follow the precedent set by other communities in standing idly by while the golden opportunities for profit presented by such an undertaking were snatched up by newcomers, was expressed in emphatic terms.

E. H. Gipson, local attorney who has had some experience with irrigation projects in the northwest, was the main speaker of the day, and in his forceful talk he laid special stress on the need of preparing now for the opportunities that the irrigation system, when completed, would present. The oil boom which found Wichita Falls unprepared passed by with this city realizing only an infinitesimal portion of the real benefits that might have accrued from it, he said. And then using this illustration effectively, he plead that the citizens of this city and district awake to the fact that another great highway toward wealth, prosperity and civic advancement was being opened up.

Facts and figures illustrating the unbelievable profits that had been taken from irrigable lands in the northwest were cited by the speaker as proof of his statements that Wichita Falls could not plunge too enthusiastically into the work of developing the irrigation territory. The necessity of advertising the project in such manner that capable investors would be attracted here was also brought out in the address.

Commenting further on this latter phase of the question he pointed out that the Wichita Falls irrigation project was in reality competing with a score of other projects of similar character. And, he declared, if the local undertaking is developed to that point where it should be developed, those interested would do well to rouse themselves, do some serious and rapid thinking and take more serious and rapid action.

The possibilities of irrigation such as that to be practiced soon in this territory will, if nurtured properly, double twice over the wealth and growth brought here by the discovery of oil, Mr. Gipson contended. The mere fact that irrigation would be permanent and would increase in value as the years progressed is sufficient to warrant such an assumption, he said.

And then he warned that if this city failed to grasp the opportunities presented and allowed the project to flicker on with but indifferent success it would constitute a "black eye for Wichita Falls from which the present generation cannot recover."

Mr Gipson's talk made a profound impression on his audience and elicited more than the usual applause.

The only other business of the meeting was informal discussion on the citizens' training camp to be established in various army training fields late next July. This matter was brought up and heartily recommended by Dr. L. D. Parnell, president of the club, who act in motion plans that may ultimately result in the Lions taking an active interest in a recruiting campaign in this city. Further attention will be given the work at next week's meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Pittman furnished special musical entertainment for the day, three delightful vocal and piano numbers being offered for the delection of the Lions

ARTHUR B. REEVE WRITES RADIO ROMANCE

Especially for Wichita Daily Times

THE FICTION SCOOP OF THE DECADE

The Wichita Daily Times recognized the many radio fans among its readers would like to read a good radio romance. It sought such a story, but couldn't find one—for none had been written. But, through NEA Service, it engaged Arthur B. Reeve to write such a serial for original publication in this paper.

No need telling who Reeve is—millions throughout the world are Reeve fans—Reeve's celebrated character, Craig Kennedy, scientific detective, is universally famous in fiction, on stage and on screen.

Reeve refused to undertake The Times' commission, "unless I can write a story that will add to my reputation." It was this spirit that has produced

Homer's Homer Paves Way for 11 to 5 Win Over Buffs In First

HOUSTON, TEXAS, May 31.—A little matter like a four run lead didn't bother Walter Salm's Spudders one whit here Tuesday. For seven innings the Buffs, chiefly through Manager George Whiteman's batting proclivities, sported a lead of that number of runs and apparently had a ball game tucked away in the cooler. Eddie Donalds was shooting his spitter past the Spudder furniture in a manner that could not be denied and the Buff rooters had settled back in their seats secure in the thought that the home boys had crawled a game nearer the Salmites. But they didn't know the fighting qualities of the invaders. The latter waited until the eighth chapter when they cracked down on Donalds, chasing him to the showers, and continued the onslaught with Bolden in the box until they had chalked up 10 large counters and won the contest by a count of 11 to 5. It was one of the greatest rallies ever staged in the Bayou city and though the visitors were aided and abetted by Bolden's wildness they pounded out sufficient drives to win.

The turning point in the contest came when Homer Summa caught one of Donalds' offerings on the end of his club and drove it out of the park via the right field barrier, a feat seldom performed in the local ball yard. When "Sat" connected, his mates were trailing by three runs and two of them were on the paths. The blow put them back on even terms with the Bisons and just about broke Donalds' heart. Miller followed with a bunt which he beat out and Beck's slam, coming in close proximity, caused Eddie's removal from the picture.

Bolden Generous.

The Spudders didn't have to land on Bolden for a while as he walked White, filling the bases, and then served Bowman four wide ones after forcing in a run after he had fanned Kitchens. He still found difficulty in locating the plate and mistook Adams for the dish, sacking him in the ribs and forcing in another counter. Tanner poked a twister at Blades which the latter fumbled and another man tallied. Bescher then relieved part of the congestion when he collected his second blow of the inning. His first was a single while this time he punched the sphere for a couple of cushions sending two men across the platter. Bolden had contributed everything but a walk thus far and to show his versatility dropped the apple while winding up, allowing Tanner to walk in from third. This ended the scoring for the day though the Salmites might have added a couple more had they so desired in the ninth.

Hub Perdue was Salm's first nomination to turn the Buffs back but he lasted only four and two-thirds innings. The Buffs counted four times while he was on the rubber. Whiteman had found his offerings just to his liking, belting him for a double and triple, which accounted for two scores. Abe Bowman took up the assignment where Hub left off and allowed only one more run and it was Whiteman again who was responsible. The Buff Skipper socked out a double in the seventh with a runner aboard.

Kitchens' club chased the first Spudder tally over in the seventh. He slapped a single to center with Miller perched on second, having reached that station by virtue of a double. Jake collected a double and three singles during the course of the afternoon as did Bob Bescher.

ST. LOUIS, May 30.—The Browns and Detroit broke even in today's double bill, the visitors taking the morning game 6 to 5, while the local team captured the afternoon contest 2 to 1 in 16 innings. It was due to efforts of three recruits that the afternoon contest went to the local team. After Shocker had held Detroit to 11 hits and one run in 14 1-3 innings, Durst, substituting for Tobin in right field after the latter had been put out of the game together with Shocker, singled, was sacrificed to second and scored the winning run on a single by Collins, who went behind the bat in the tenth inning. Pruitt, the Missouri university star, retired the five batters who faced him in a row, fanning four.

The morning game was a loosely played contest, in which the Browns tried hard to gain a lead over the makeshift team presented by Detroit owing to suspension and illness of players.

Murphy Only Driver to Win Premier Automobile Races of Two Continents

By Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31.—Jimmy Murphy, the smiling, boyish Los Angeles, Cal., youth, today holds the distinction of being the only driver in the world to win the premier automobile races of two continents—the French grand prix and the 500-mile race at Indianapolis yesterday. This is Murphy's second year as a driver, as he graduated from the grade of mechanician two years ago. By a strange coincidence it was Captain Eddie Rickenbacker who gave Murphy the checkered flag in token of victory yesterday—the same Murphy who rode beside Rickenbacker as a mechanician here six years ago.

Some of the glory and also some of the prize money that Murphy was generally believed to have gained yesterday slipped away overnight, however. Murphy was credited with holding the lead throughout the race and winning all of the prizes offered for leadership in the various laps of the contest, but speedway officials early today announced that there had been some miscalculations and that apparently Harry Hartz, another Los Angeles racer, who finished second, had held the lead during part of the race.

Doubt New Record.

There was also some question as to the authenticity of Murphy's record time which had been announced as 5:37:30.79, sixteen minutes better than the record established by Ralph de Palma, winner in 1915.

Much confusion among the judges and timers existed at the 200th mile yesterday and the announcement was made that Hartz had gone into first place. This announcement was later withdrawn but when the official tabulation was started at the close of the race the possibility that Murphy might have been displaced as leader for a time was again brought forward.

Officials said they expected to complete the tabulation some time today. It was not expected it would make any changes in the standing of the winners.

Murphy was given remarkable cooperation by his pit men. He drove the entire distance making only three stops to change tires and replenish his fuel tanks. On his third stop gasoline was dumped into the tanks and a rear wheel changed in 25 seconds. On a previous stop he was given oil and gasoline and two front wheels changed in 28 seconds.

Hartz, who finished second, also is a former mechanician. He drove into second place shortly after the 60th mile and from then on to the finish gave Murphy a desperate fight.

PAPA GIBBON ALWAYS SAYS "THE NEXT TIME"

Strange as it may seem, Papa Gibbons never has seen either of his boys, Tommy, the lightheavy, or Mike, the middleweight, in a boxing contest.

The two nag the "old man" constantly to step over and see one of them put the damper on some opponent, but dad always says "Next time. That bird looks like a tough egg. I wouldn't want to see you all get plastered."

Nevertheless, Pa Gibbons reads all the dope after every fight, wishing he had attended.

A few years ago the "old boy" was out-smarted when Tom and Mike framed him into a private exhibition between themselves. During the melee Tom floored Mike, decidedly pleasing the senior Gibbons at the sight of the younger one "putting it over."

His greatest delight is to go on trips with his boys hunting and fishing. He was born in Ireland and came to the United States 35 years ago, settling in St. Paul.

HOW TO PLAY BALL

Today's Article—The Art of Hitting in the Game, by Billy Evans.

By BILLY EVANS,
American League Umpire and Sporting Editor of NEA Service.

There is a saying in baseball that the great hitters are born, not made.

Those subscribing such a theory insist there is no way a player can be taught to make home runs like Babe Ruth.

True, it is impossible to lay down any set of rules that will make a batter emulate the deeds of the Babe. Nature endowed him with a good pair of eyes, a great physique, and a destructive swing.

However, by careful study and persistent effort, it is possible to improve one's ability to bat.

Don't make the error of using too heavy a bat. Because Babe Ruth swings a heavy stick, don't think that you can. Also don't get the impression that a heavy bat is essential to a good hitter.

The use of too heavy a bat is a fault that handicaps a great many batters unknowingly. They can't handle it properly, which results in a late swing. The bat swings the hitter instead of the batsman swinging the bat.

A short or medium bat of a light weight is better than a long, heavy bat for the average hitter.

The next thing is the proper way to grip the bat. Usually it is advisable to handle a bat as it feels best to you. Most batters hold the hands as closely together as possible and grip the bat fairly close to the end.

Most of the great hitters stand with the feet as closely together as is comfortable. One should always have an easy position while in the batter's box rather than a strained posture.

The foot nearest the pitcher should always be closer to the plate than the rear foot.

The successful batter studies the pitcher as carefully as does the successful pitcher study the batter.

Have supreme confidence in your ability. Never for a minute forget that the pitcher fears you. Try to reason that he fears you more than you do him. That gives you the upper hand.

Never lose sight of the ball. Follow it from the moment it leaves the pitcher's hand.

Don't let the pitcher get on your nerves. If he tries to disconcert you by slow methods, step out of the box on him. Be as deliberate as he is.

Unless nature has given you Babe Ruth's ability to hit them a mile, forget that a full swing is the best way to hit. A majority of the good hitters use the short, snappy swing.

Don't overlook bunting as a batting asset. Ability to mix up style makes a batsman doubly dangerous.

Step into the ball, never pull away. Pulling away destroys the power of the punch.

Don't Get in the Hole.

Never forget the importance of the bat. Don't get too heavy a stick. As you walk to the plate swing two or three bats until you step into the box. That tends to make the regular bat feel much lighter after you discard the others.

Don't let the pitcher always have you in the hole. Try to reverse the conditions. When you get a pitcher in the hole, pick on the cripple.

The best hitters in the major leagues hit with two balls and no strikes, and three balls and a strike if the pitch is over. They realize the pitcher invariably lets up at such a time. That is the time to hit.

Tomorrow Rogers Hornsby, premier batsman of the National league and one of the greatest hitters in the game, offers his theories on hitters.

SHOOTING OF HERR AND KING FEATURES

Visiting Nimrods Show Way at Second Local Registered Shoot

The remarkable shooting of Bill Herr of Guthrie Okla and P. King of Delta, Colo were the outstanding features of the holiday shoot held Monday and Tuesday at the local traps under the auspices of the Wichita Falls club. Both nimrods finished the tournament with 341 breaks out of a possible 350, leading their nearest competitors by several birds.

Tuesday's events were more closely contested than those of Monday as several shooters ran their 25 straight. In the first event Miller had things his own way as he was the only gunner to go straight but the entrants found themselves in the next and improved as they went on. The money in the second was divided among Miller, Herr, King, O'Gallagher and J. P. Morrison of Iowa and Herr went straight in the third event while Grissom, Herr, Dillard, Pate, Deatherage, Franz and Elzy Morrison split the prize in the fourth. Money in the fifth went to Bill Herr alone as he was the only one to go straight. Herr went straight again in the sixth but was forced to divide up with Miller and King. In the seventh Clay King and Daniels took first honors. Joe Pate went straight again in the eighth event and was the only man to get in the first money.

Pate Leads Wichitans.

Pate was high man among the local shooters for the day, smashing 191 out of his 200 targets. Other local nimrods chalked up the following scores: Adams 177, Nall 175, Deatherage 15[illegible], Dempsey 17[illegible], Daniels 182.

The shoot was one of the most successful ever staged here and were it not for showers on both afternoons many of the total scores would have been larger. Practically 50 shooters assembled and the majority were from out of town.

In addition to winning the doubles event and getting a tie for high in the singles, Herr, the Oklahoma champion, turned in the highest consecutive run, shattering 137 in succession before dropping a target. King was second in this respect with a run of 95 while he also contributed runs of 72 and 64 before missing. Deatherage led the local shooters in this respect with a high run of 92. Pate went 55 straight on Tuesday.

Fairless led the professionals Tuesday with 182 out of 200 while Baker pressed him hard with 181.

Two Castoffs Are Team's Making, Says Connie Mack

Two castoffs have rounded out Connie Mack's ball club. They are Pep Young of Detroit and Doc Johnston of Cleveland.

When Cleveland secured Stuffy McInnis from Boston to play first base there was no place for Johnston.

The Cleveland club asked waivers. All the major league clubs except the Philadelphia Americans waived.

During the winter Connie Mack had purchased from the Milwaukee club Hauser, the star first sacker of the American association. He was figured on as a certainty for first base.

Mack was unable to agree on salary with the recruit. In order to protect himself he put in a claim for Johnston.

The Cleveland castoff has gone so well up to date that Hauser, who has since agreed on terms, has no chance of breaking in as a regular at this time.

All last year Pep Young of Detroit had trouble with his throwing arm. The arm seemed strong enough but lacked accuracy. This spring the old fault was still with him. Manager Cobb of the Detroit club asked for waivers. Mack was the only manager to put in a claim for Young.

Mack believed that Young's trouble was purely mental and that a change of scenery also might work wonders for Johnston.

His opinion has been verified for both have played great ball for him. In discussing their cases Mack simply says:

"The addition of Young and Johnston has made my club. I was positive neither was through as a big leaguer and that they would develop for me. Their fine work has exceeded my fondest expectations."

HERE'S A CIRCUIT SWATTING QUINTET

Years ago Fielder Jones managing a very ordinary ball club, the Chicago White Sox, was one of the most feared leaders in the American league.

The club in 1906 was known as the hitless wonder, yet Jones won the American league pennant and a world series with that aggregation.

To win the world series Jones had to beat the Chicago Cubs, conceded to have been one of the greatest clubs in the history of the sport. In 1906 the Cub team was at the top of its game.

Fielder Jones knew baseball. He had the ability to drive the players and get results. Yet the greatest asset he possessed during his managerial career at Chicago was Ed Walsh.

Ed Walsh then one of the greatest pitchers in the history of the game, unquestionably made Fielder Jones a great manager.

Perhaps some sort of an explanation is necessary for such a statement. Here it is. Walsh, a glutton for work, could take part in from 40 to 50 games a season. He could be depended upon to win 20 or more. One season he won 39. Some asset for a manager to have such a pitcher.

It was as a relief pitcher that Walsh was at his best. Any time a pitcher began to falter late in the game and the White Sox had a lead of a run or two, Walsh would be rushed into the breach to hold the margin.

No situation was too tough for Walsh to face. He fairly revelled in rushing to the relief of some pitcher at a critical moment.

Pitcher Ed Walsh was unquestionably the maker of Fielder Jones as a manager.

In the American league at the present time there exists a condition similar to that of the days of the hitless wonders.

Reference is made to Lee Fohl of the St. Louis Browns and Urban Shocker, star pitcher.

Lee Fohl knows baseball. He is a mighty good manager. There is a chance that Shocker may make him a great one.

The St. Louis team is a strong club. Shocker is a great pitcher, another Ed Walsh. St. Louis has an excellent chance to say who will win the American league pennant.

If St. Louis should win the pennant much credit and deservedly so will go to Manager Lee Fohl. Urban Shocker would naturally play a big part.

Shocker is the Ed Walsh type. He is a great pitcher who is game and likes to work. He is the fellow ever anxious to answer the call of his manager to save a game.

Such a type of pitcher is almost necessary to every pennant-winning club. Such a type of pitcher helps to bring greatness to a manager.

SPORT SHOTS by Paul W. Larkin

The Difference

The one big difference between the Spudder clubs of 1921 and 1922 lies in the spirit. Last season if an opposing club were lucky enough to get a lead of two runs or more the Salmites seemed to throw up the sponge and quit. They would go through the motions of ball players but apparently their hearts and minds were anywhere but in the ball game. They would fight hard in a Fort Worth series maybe but even then it didn't seem to make any material difference to them whether the ball game was won or lost. The attitude of the players after a game was all wrong. "Well we lost another game," they'd say and then let it go at that. Very seldom did they talk baseball and live the game as a contender should.

In 1922

How different matters are this year. A lead of four or five runs by the opposing club makes the Texas fight harder. Many games have been pulled out of the fire this season that were apparently lost in the early innings. There is no the game every second [illegible] seems too great to overcome. There is no the ball game until the last man is out in the ninth—fighting to the last ditch. They know their own capabilities and keep plugging no matter what the odds. Last year half the games they have won from the [illegible] in the ninth or later but have been won after the seventh inning of their losses the big majority have been by the margin of one run showing that they are always in the fighting.

A Successful Invasion

Whatever the outcome of the remaining games with the Bears the first southern invasion of the Spudders has been a huge success. Should they drop their last two games they will have finished with a record of eight won and six lost—an enviable record when one stops to consider that they met two of the fastest traveling clubs in the circuit—Beaumont and Houston. Thus far the Spudders are the only club to take a series from the Exporters on their own lot. And they haven't dropped the first two to Houston yet. The Spudders are due for a royal welcome when they return to Athletic Park Friday to open their four game series with the Gassers.

Deck's Return

Every man has a [illegible] on this trip but one of the main factors in the Spudder showing has been the return to form of Fred Deck. The first sacker who was in the throes of one of the worst batting slumps of his long career finally returned to the charmed circle by virtue of his two hits in the first Houston game. When the Spudders left Wichita Falls two weeks ago Deck was just over the 200 mark. Today he is hitting in even 300. His remarkable fielding and hitting of Buddy Tanner, who jumped in at third base when Tex Wade had his spikes has also been a feature of the club's work. Many fans threw up their hands and exclaimed were gone for when Tex was injured. But Tex hasn't been missed yet. Buddy's work has been as frequent and as timely as they make 'em.

Bargain Day Sunday

Despite their great showing on the road, the Swatters still have to perform. It isn't a joke for anyone else but it is for Sam's bargains. They have yet to win a Sunday game. They'll never be better opponents than they will Sunday when they meet the Gassers in a twin bill. They ought to be the first unit get over the plate. The twin bill is not one of the regularly scheduled Friday fracas. The Gassers are to be in Shreveport Sunday to open with the Sam's cats and they could not make it were the game here Monday. Monday is an off day for the Spudders.

Danny Clark Fighting

Danny Clark had a close call the other day when he got in the way of a hard boot by Harry Heilmann. Ty and Harry drew suspensions but Danny escaped unscathed. Pitcher Danny was supposed to turn up the American league this season but judging from the press notices Clark is the find—not Bigbee. Many fans are now contending that Clark will be up there when Bigbee is back in the Texas league.

Pate on the Road

Joe Pate is practically unfamiliar in Panther Park but is just an ordinary pitcher in other ball yards. The reason: Joe can get away with a lot of stuff in his own back yard that he can't on the road.

Washington Club's Failure Start Well Biggest Surprise

The showing of the Washington club during the first month of play in the American league has been one of the big upsets of the season.

Picked to be a strong contender from the very outset the club failed to hit its stride in the spring games and has been in the second division most of the time with occasional stops in last place.

Washington's failure to make a good showing in the early games can be charged to a lack of consistent pitching. In addition the club has not played up to form.

Always Something Wrong

When the Nationals did get some good pitching the club failed to hit or some player or players fell down afield.

At the opening of the season the pitching staff of the Washington club loomed up as the weakest part of the team. This belief was borne out during the first month of play.

When the ace of your staff fails it is a body blow. Walter Johnson thus far has been of little value to the Washington club. Illness which overtook Johnson at the training camp, plus the serious illness of his wife and two children shortly after he recovered, practically eliminated him from spring training.

Recruits the Best

This was a severe jolt as Johnson usually is very good in the spring. The other veteran pitchers also failed to win. As a matter of fact the recruit hurlers have done the most effective work in the box for the Nationals.

Roger Peckinpaugh, unquestionably is one of the greatest shortstops in the game. Yet this spring Peck has been off his stride and he has not been of the assistance he will be when he gets going.

The truth is the entire Washington club has shown a decided reversal of form that it almost impossible of explanation.

Electricity for heating and cooking is making headway in Switzerland.

OLDFIELD WINS in "Battle of Tires" at Indianapolis

(Special Telegraphic Dispatch From the Indianapolis Speedway, May 30)

Jimmy Murphy wins International Sweepstakes, average speed 94.48 miles per hour, on Oldfield Tires. Harry Hartz, second, average speed 93.54 miles per hour on Oldfield Tires. Eight of the ten cars to finish in the money were Oldfield equipped. Murphy's time fastest ever made in this event--breaking track record by nearly five miles per hour.

Third Straight Victory for Oldfield Tires

Consider this latest Oldfield achievement—the official test conducted by Mayor Kemp of Wichita, Kan., on behalf of a group of automotive dealers, when—

Four Oldfield Cord Tires on a Studebaker car covered 34,525 miles over Kansas winter roads, without a single tire change. Mayor Kemp has made affidavit to this wonderful tire mileage record along with other features of the test, including oil and gasoline economy.

Another example of Oldfield's road endurance under severe conditions was—

The French Grand Prix, Europe's greatest race classic, where Oldfield Tires carried the winner safely and surely over 325 miles of rough, rocky country roads—the first time in history that American tires have won this event.

Races are won by skilled drivers at terrific speed. You will never put your tires to such a test. But the fact that virtually all racing drivers will trust no other tires but Oldfields is convincing evidence of that tire's inbuilt stamina and endurance.

You can enjoy this same safety and service by having your nearest dealer equip your car with Oldfield Cords at a cost no higher than you pay for other standard makes.

Sixty-one Branch Houses and dealers everywhere throughout the United States distribute Oldfield Tires.

1922 Records Made on Oldfield Tires

Earl Cooper, San Francisco, April 17th, broke world's record for stock chassis—average 93.24 miles per hour.

Jimmy Murphy, April 27th, Fresno Cal., new mile track record for 150 miles at 102.8 miles per hour.

Jimmy Murphy, May 7th, Santa Rosa, Cal., new 50 mile world record—average 116 miles per hour.

FREIGHT AND WAGE CUTS EXPECTED TO INCREASE BUSINESS

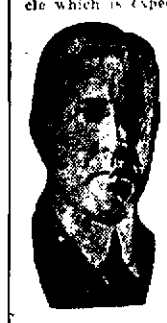
AMERICA QUICKLY RECOVERING FROM ABNORMAL CONDITIONS

EXPECT BIG GAIN IN VOLUME OF BUSINESS

Promises to Show Substantial Improvement All Along the Line

By MARK SULLIVAN
National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post and Wichita Daily Times.
(Copyright, 1922, by the New York Evening Post.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31.—America has now completed the cycle which is expected by important business men and economists to round out the ground work for the return of business in this country to whatever is to be the American post war normal basis. The first step, taken about ten days ago, was the reduction of railroad rates by the interstate commerce commission and the second, adopted this week, and to go into effect July 1, was the reduction of railroad wages by the official action of the railroad labor board.



SULLIVAN

It has long been recognized that high railroad freight rates were an impediment to the adjustment of American business. When this was put up to the railroads, however, they always protested that they could not reduce rates so long as railroad wages were so high. The interlocking relation of these two factors and the necessity of taking action on them has long been the chief concern of business men and those departments of government which themselves are concerned with business prosperity.

The two things combined have been a source of embarrassment for more than a year. Their relation to each other and the relation of both to business prosperity was made especially emphatic at the time of the threatened railroad strike last year. Those departments of the government which are charged with responsibility for the interests of the public within this field have known that freight rates ought to be reduced and that railroad wages ought to be adjusted so as to make the cut in freight rates possible. The embarrassing question has been which step to take first. In the outcome the two steps have been taken virtually simultaneously.

It is believed that with these two embarrassing factors readjusted the way is clear for a thorough-going resumption of maximum business activity. It is predicted by those who speak with most authority in this field that in the course of a few months there will not be an unemployed worker in the United States. It is not expected, of course, that the volume of business will reach the maximum that America had during the height of the war. That was abnormal. But it is predicted and with great confidence that America will shortly reach a volume of business activity and degree of prosperity far above what this country had before the war began. If the war had not occurred, and if there had merely been the normal peace time increase from year to year the volume of business of 1923 would not have been greater than what is now predicted for that year.

American business is about to go forward on what is to be its post war normal basis. America is past all the abnormalities. America is completely through with both the abnormal inflation of the height of the war and the equally abnormal deflation that followed immediately after the war. This new normal basis for the future is to be much better than was commonly expected. The departments of the government which have charted this matter carefully show that in the final net result America has suffered almost nothing by the interruptions and dislocations of the war time period.

The volume of business for 1923 promises to be at the point where it would have been if the war had never taken place. The year 1923 is expected to show the same increase in volume over 1913 that would normally have taken place through the gradual increases of ten normal years.

But while America is to be normal as compared with her own past, America is to be much more than normal compared to other countries. If the volume of business done by each of the countries of the world in 1913 be taken as the basis, it is found that America is relatively much farther ahead of that basis than any of the other nations are.

CAPITAL FELONY CASE BEGINS IN 89TH WEDNESDAY

JURY IS BEING SELECTED FROM SPECIAL VENIRE IN MIKE TUCKER CASE

PLEADS NOT GUILTY UPON ARRAIGNMENT

Defendant Charged With Criminally Assaulting Ethel Elledge on March 9

The case of Mike Tucker, charged with criminal assault upon Ethel Elledge, was called for trial in the 89th district court Wednesday morning and the tedious task of selecting a jury of 12 men from a special venire of 150 began.

The defendant was arraigned before Judge P. A. Martin Wednesday morning and entered a plea of not guilty to the charge. The crime that the defendant stands charged with is punishable by death as a maximum penalty.

The indictment alleged that on or about March 9, 1922, the defendant did make a criminal assault upon Ethel Elledge.

The defendant is represented by Attorneys Charles I. Francis and the prosecution is in the hands of County Attorney E. L. Fulton and Judge H. F. Weldon.

A conflict arose between attorneys in the case upon the examination of the first special venireman. The state asked the venireman whether he had heard that the defendant was shot and wounded by the prosecutrix in the case on the night following the one when the alleged offense was committed.

The state then asked the juror whether the fact that the prosecutrix shot the defendant would influence him in perhaps inflicting a lesser penalty. To this the defense attorneys objected and were sustained by the court.

Two jurors had been selected at a late hour Tuesday afternoon out of eleven examined. They were W. D. Scott and Frank Hicks.

The defense attorneys who were appointed by the court indicated in the examination of jurors that a suspended sentence would be applied for and inquired as to whether they were prejudiced against that law. Several prospective jurors answered that they thought the law "had been overworked."

The defense attorneys in the examination of jurors also asked whether they had contributed anything towards the fund raised for the prosecution of this defendant. They were also asked whether they had heard a sermon on this affair.

ONE FINE NOT ENOUGH FOR BELLIGERENT PARTY; BARELY AVOIDS ANOTHER

Inability to hold his tongue after drawing a sizable fine on affray charges Tuesday morning nearly cost a local man another assessment Wednesday when he was arraigned in police court on a disturbing the peace complaint.

The trouble started Monday night when the defendant in question administered a whipping to another man in a local garage. He was arrested and after paying a fine yesterday stopped the plaintiff on the street in front of the city hall and threatened to "get him again."

Charges of disturbing the peace were promptly made out and the case brought up for trial Wednesday. Judge Chauncey left it on the docket and dismissed the belligerent one with a warning that any more trouble would result in his being called on to shoulder a heavy financial responsibility.

A feminine witness for the victim of the whipping testified so lustily in court that Prosecutor Gipson was moved to make the candid confession that "you get on my nerves almost as much as he does." This silenced all testimony and the court turned with renewed energy to the trial of a few speeders.

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Reports of unsettled weather in the south over the holiday and higher Liverpool cables were followed by an opening advance of 7 to 27 points in the cotton market today. July contracts sold at 21.17 and October at 20.70 on the call, but there was a good deal of realizing for over the bureau report due at noon (New York time) on Friday, and the market lost several points of the advance right after the call. Private cables attributed the advance in Liverpool to a good spot demand and a good trade in Manchester, but houses with Liverpool connections were sellers of July contracts here. New Orleans was also a moderate seller, but local brokers attributed the bulk of the offerings to realizing by commission house longs, who thought that low end-May condition figures had been pretty well discounted.

The market worked off to 20.94 for July or within 5 points of Monday's closing quotation during the middle of the morning, while later months sold 1 to 10 points net lower with October touching 20.46 and December 20.23. Except for the pre-bureau realizing or liquidation, however, there was little selling pressure and the market became quieter toward midday with prices showing rallies of 6 to 7 points from the lowest. A private crop report issued this morning made the condition 69. The average of nine private reports so far issued point to a condition of 68.2.

The official weather belt forecast was a little more favorable than expected and the market eased off during the early afternoon under further scattered liquidation, July to 20.88 and October to 20.38, or 10 to 15 points net lower, while later months showed losses from 20 to 25 points.

Cotton closed easy.

October	20.70	20.25	20.25

New Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, May 31.—Further rains in the belt and cablegrams from Liverpool telling of more activity in Manchester put the cotton market 7 to 13 points higher on the opening today. Heavy liquidation came from realizing longs, and a reaction ensued, the market standing 4 to 20 points under the close of yesterday at the end of the first hour of trading. July sold as high as 20.90 and dropped back to 20.72.

After rallying to about the highest levels on the forecast of showery weather for the eastern half of the belt, the market again settled into a decline under liquidation for the long account, becoming very irregular, with selling pressure greatest against the distant positions. The list toward 11 o'clock showed net losses of 4 to 26 points, January showed the widest loss, falling off to 19.49.

Liquidation became heavier especially on the distant months and the market fell off to 20.68 for July and 19.23 for January at which levels prices were 9 to 33 points under yesterday's finals. At 12:30 the market was steady a few points up from the lowest.

The cotton market closed steady at a net decline of 27 to 47 points.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE

CHICAGO, May 31.—Nervousness and rapid changes in price characterized the wheat market today during the early dealings. The fact that it was the last day for the settlement of May contracts was largely responsible for the instability shown. Severe declines in Liverpool quotations had much to do with a rush here to sell at the opening to a consequent material downturn in values. Relative smallness of wheat receipts in Chicago today, however, 250 carloads, led soon to rallies, though not of a lasting report. Deliveries on May contracts, 810,000 bushels, were less heavy than had generally been looked for. The opening, which varied from ½c to 2½c lower, with May $1.16 to $1.17 and July $1.17½ to $1.17¾, was followed by a rise to $1.19½ for May and then a setback to $1.17¾, with corresponding changes in July and September within narrow limits.

Expectations of a possible flurried wind-up of the month's business were unrealized. Prices closed unsettled, ½c net lower to ½c advance, with May 1.16 to 1.17 and July 1.18⅝ to 1.18¾.

Corn and oats held relatively steady, notwithstanding big receipts of corn. After opening ½ to ½c lower, July 61½c to 61¾c, the corn market in some cases showed a slight gain.

Month end evening up of trades helped to lift prices a little in the subsequent dealings. The market closed firm, ½c to ½c higher, with July 62½ to 62¾c.

Oats started unchanged to ½@½c lower, July 37½ to 37¾c and then followed the action of corn.

Provisions were easy in line with hog values.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, May 31.—Railroad shares were the dominant feature at the active opening of today's stock market. Monday's decision of United States supreme court declaring the Southern Pacific-Central Pacific merger illegal and the decree of that same tribunal defining the status of Reading first and second preferred issues subordinated all other developments over the holiday. Southern Pacific, selling exdividend, soon declined one point and Reading common lost 4 points. Reading first preferred rose 3 points and the second preferred jumped 5 points. Other noteworthy features of the early trading included a 2 point advance in Tobacco Products on announcement of a merger with United Retail Stores. Among specialties National Enamelling, American Beet Sugar, United Drug and Nova Scotia Steel made gains of 1 to 3 points.

Heaviness was shown by American Smelting, Royal Dutch, Sumatra Tobacco and U. S. Rubber.

Higher prices for sugar and lead contributed to the optimistic feeling as to general trade conditions and buying became more confident. Bullish activities in selected issues intimidated the shorts and the list as a whole made good progress upward. Spectacular advances in some of the specialties featured the early afternoon dealings. Coca Cola jumped 5 points to a new high record. Postum Cereal gained 3½, Standard Oil of New Jersey 3½, Mexican Petroleum 2¾ and California Petroleum, Vanadium Steel, Pittsburgh Coal, U. S. Food Products, American Beet Sugar and American Linseed 2 to 3 points. The leathers and minor motors were also in demand.

"MUST BE WORTHY OF OUR DEAD" SAYS MEMORIAL SPEAKER

JUDGE PHILLIPS OF DALLAS PAYS NOTABLE TRIBUTE TO WAR VICTIMS

SAYS LAWLESSNESS MOCKS THEIR PATRIOTISM

Soldiers' Graves Are Decorated After Service of Tuesday Afternoon

'Little can we say or do here in fitting tribute to those for whom life held out the fairest prospects and most promising ambitions and for whom life stretched out along the sunny flowery highways that only the musing dreams of youth can see All that we can do is to strive to be worthy of them."

In this manner Judge Nelson Phillips of Dallas paid a tribute to the memory of the boys who were laid on the altar a pledge of America that civilization should not perish during the world war of just a few years ago He spoke at the Memorial day exercises held Tuesday afternoon in the court house. The speaker said

"The boys died for the republic They were her children, her sons. She loved them as they loved her. We must remember that they were just boys, filled with hopes, enthusiasm and ambition. They performed their duty in keeping with the honor of the laws of their forefathers. They performed it in a manner as expressed by that prototype of American history who said, 'My one great regret is that I have but one life to give.' That they were just boys is the tragic picture of it all"

Attorney Tarlton Morrow introduced the speaker after Captain J. H Healey had spoken briefly.

Judge Phillips explained that when he first was invited to deliver the Memorial day address in this city that he had dictated a letter declining, stating that in all probability he would be unable to be present

Later however he decided to accept He said that one of the things that induced him to come was the fact that the legion post here bore the name of a gallant youth who went abroad and gave up his brave life in the defense of his flag

I knew him well," said the speaker. 'He was a companion of my son and the son of one of my esteemed friends This is a sorrowful and painful occasion. There is about it all the sadness and quietness of death Yet, death cannot come untimely to him who is fit to die'

He asked that no one underestimate this occasion

In this quiet hour we stand in the proudest memory of history. If we will unfold our memory we can see the minute man of Lexington and Concord bridge firing the shot that was heard around the world We can see those soldiers battling with the Mexican hordes We can see the noblest figures of all times, the private confederate soldiers. We can see the magnificent, eager, clear eyed clean young men who went to the battle fields of France and turned back the invading hordes of Germans and saved the world. 'We salute the undying valor of that soldier who now sleeps beneath the silent stars with dew on his brows. It is those we salute today

Let us not mock their patriotism by turning this country for which they died to lawlessness Let us put no stain on their shoes by permitting this to become the noisy arena of conflicting factions Let us have no room here for classes and class spirit Let there be no room here for that vague spirit that envies another man's success or covets another's property

"Let us keep and swear to keep this day this the land that our fathers won for us The land of the freeman A land for the many of the type of the old south we bowed their head to nothing and and no one except God and woman Let us keep this land, dedicated to liberty and to law Let it stand as it has stood a lone, towering rock amid a tempestuous and restless sea, securing its people their rights and their happiness.'

From the court house the firing squad from Fort Sill and members of the legion post were conveyed to Riverside cemetery where the graves of the soldier dead were decorated A detachment of men were sent to each one of the cemeteries

At Riverside cemetery after flowers were strewn on the graves of each of those who had gone to rest and a few words were said, the mellow, resounding notes of a bugle carried smoothly on the silent wings of the scampering sunbeams as they hurried to the west sang out sadly "Gone to rest—gone to rest."

Local Players to Make Ardent Love In Community Play

Ardent love making as Mr. Shakespeare wrote it will be interpreted by Charles Angle and Miss Ella Merle Mathis and Jarrell Gose and Miss Elvia Allman in "Midsummer Night's Dream" at the Wichita theatre Thursday and Friday nights. The lovers' parts in the Shakespearean play are considered perhaps the most difficult roles written by Shakespeare since they require not only exceptional dramatic talent but musical ability as well, and the Wichita Falls community players in casting the play, considered themselves fortunate in having in the organization the talent for these parts.

Mr. Angle is well known in Wichita Falls as a singer as well as an actor of success, who fits admirably in his part, according to the Community theatre critics. Mr. Gose, who is well known as a violinist, is new to the dramatic stage, but will carry his role like a seasoned player, the director predicts, and Misses Mathis and Allman have done stellar work in the dramatic organization's public offerings during the closing season which won for them their assignments in the big play of the year. Shakespeare's roles of the feminine lovers demand very special emotional qualifications as well as certain physical requirements which the young ladies, playing opposite Messrs. Angle and Gose measure up to in every way, according to those in charge of the production, who are predicting for it a complete success.

Tickets are on sale at Tipton, Central and Kemp drug stores, and early purchases are being urged.
